BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful adaptation of the same to the habits of the human race, we may secure a constant and healthy state of the system. Mr. James has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us from many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to take advantage of every slight neglect of the system. We can escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."

WOMEN AT THE HELM.

THE WIVES AND DAUGHTERS OF MECHAN-ICS AND LABORERS ORGANIZE.

They Propose to Arouse the Men to a Sense of Their Duty, and to Extend Financial Aid and Social Encouragement—Eight Hours' Work and More Pay.

The labor world is now certainly stirred up to organization and to bringing every influence possible to bear on the employing classes to give the journeyman and laborer what he demands, in justice to himself and family, of at least, as it is supported by reason and humanity. The latest organization is the Women's Trade and Labor Auxiliary of St. Louis, with headquarters at 2322 Howard street. This association is organized to give the men the assistance of the women. As it is stated in their motto:

Eight hours a day to follow,
And eight to sleep and more And eight to rest and more And eight to eat and more And eight to be with family,
And eight to be with friends,
And eight to be with the world,
And eight to be with the God.

With this expressive declaration as to the enjoyments of the eight-hour day, their preamble is introduced. In it the women recognize that the great struggle among the laboring classes to obtain the first requirements of nature, such as food, clothing, shelter, fuel, medical aid, mental development and sufficient time for rest, recreation and sociability, is a struggle in which the laboring classes are constantly becoming less able to obtain these fundamental requirements. The first great step in the struggle is to win the right to work under conditions which will enable them to obtain these requirements. The introduction of improved machinery, combined with brain and vast sums of money has caused this condition of mechanics and laborers, and forced upon them the necessity of using these improved methods, to turn out the greater proportion of the articles that are offered for sale in the markets of the country.

The amount of wages paid these women and children is so small, compared to the amount paid men for performing the same duty, that the injustice seems to be unbearable, from the fact that the combined earnings of the

MOTHER AND THREE CHILDREN on an average do not equal the wages paid a man when employed. Such combinations, with the aid of the effeminate class of labor, have filled the pockets of the country with things transformed from the crude into useful condition, ready to be consumed, but usefulness of the people, and the laborer has suffered for many years.

And yet, the laborer has not been able to sufficient to even buy the first requirements of nature. These organized combina-

ITS FATE STILL UNCERTAIN.
Gerard will leave, but the Planters' House may remain open.

The future of the Planters' House is still undetermined, but at the meeting of the stockholders held yesterday it was decided that Joseph G. Gerard would at once sever his connection with it. In reply to a question Mr. Gerard said that under no circumstances and under no conditions would he try to go on, even were his creditors willing to allow him to do so. As to his health, if nothing else would prevent him, he felt the need of rest and recreation. At one time he had thought that matters might be so arranged that he would continue in charge of the house, but after consultation with his creditors he had determined to abandon any such idea. What would become of the house he did not know. As to the sale of the furniture under the mortgage, he had no doubt that it would be made, but the house without any serious objection being raised. The stockholders have not yet come to any decision as to the matter, but it is to be made of the property, and another meeting was held this afternoon at which the matter was discussed. A gentleman connected with the management of the hotel stated that several hotel men were anxious to obtain the house, and that propositions with this end in view were being made. He also stated that he suggested that the hotel be kept open by the stockholders and the present forces of employees retained, and that the property, as an absolute closure would most disastrously affect the property for hotel purposes. It was also stated that there was a probability that the furniture could not be sold at auction, but that it could be sold at private sale. That the management will be changed is certain, but there is a belief in well informed quarters that the hotel will still remain open. The matter will probably be decided within a week.

HE WROTE TOO MUCH.

A PRISONER WHO TOOK PEN IN HAND ONCE TOO OFTEN.

His Handwriting Was Wonderfully Like That Left by a Man Who Stole Three Cars.—Prisoners Taken Into Custody by the Detectives at the Four Courts—Suspected of Larceny.
Two weeks ago Jim Carroll, the Superintendent of the Workhouse, visited the Merchants' Exchange. He hung his overcoat up in the hall and when he returned a few minutes later it was gone. Two days later Carroll received a bundle by mail and it contained papers which had been in his overcoat. Four or five days later an overcoat belonging to Sam Hoffheimer, a guest of the Southern Hotel, was stolen. In an hour or so a package addressed to him was thrown on the hotel counter by a man who passed on immediately. The package contained a number of valuable papers which Hoffheimer had left in his overcoat. A few days later Robert Hemingway was arrested for stealing an umbrella belonging to E. H. Garrigue, from the pool-room in the Merchants' Exchange Building. Wednesday morning he was tried in the Court of Criminal Correction, convicted and sentenced to three months in the Workhouse. Judge Campbell offered to reduce his sentence if Hemingway could prove a good character. Detective Desmond heard the trial and suspected the prisoner might have been the man who stole the overcoat. He was taken into custody and Hoffheimer. Under pretext of wanting to arrest him, Desmond had him write on a piece of paper the names of the places where he had worked and where he boarded. This he wrote on a piece of paper and handed it to the detective. Desmond compared with that on the wrappers in which the papers belonging to Carroll had been returned. They tallied, and Jacob Warner, a second-hand clothing dealer who had purchased Carroll's overcoat, had a card in his possession which identified Hemingway as the man who sold it to him. It is probable that the two warrants for petit larceny will now issue against Hemingway.

THE BADGER'S BAIL.
Theodore W. Poole Secures a Bondsman and Will Be Released.

Judge J. L. Thomas of the Twenty-sixth Judicial Circuit met Circuit Attorney Clover, representing the State, and Counsel for Theodore W. Poole of the "Badger" fame at 10 o'clock this afternoon in Hurst's Hotel to examine a bond proposed for Poole's release from the Hillsboro Jail in Jefferson County, where he is now confined. Thomas B. Crews, who has an office in the Commercial building, was on hand to sign the bond. Judge Thomas, who is to try the case, had fixed at $3,000. Mr. Clover entered no objections and Judge Thomas, after examining the surety, formally gave his approval to the document. The bond will be taken to Hillsboro, and Poole will be liberated to answer when his case is called. The trial will hardly take place, however, before May term. Poole is charged with executing a hold conspiracy to blackmail John A. Tindale, an elderly real estate agent. His wife, Minnie Poole, is charged, induced Tindale to call at their apartment on Olive street west of Garrison avenue to examine the furniture, with a view of making a loan and taking a chattel mortgage. While Tindale was in the room with Mrs. Poole inspecting the furniture, Poole and a confederate pounced upon him and at the point of a revolver forced him to sign a check for $1,000, gave up $12 in cash and the signature to papers confessing that he had been caught in a compromising position with Mrs. Poole. The papers were found in Poole's possession when he was taken into custody by the police. Some two weeks ago Poole was charged with an opportunity to walk out of jail at Hillsboro and a confederate pounced upon him and at the point of a revolver forced him to sign a check for $1,000, gave up $12 in cash and the signature to papers confessing that he had been caught in a compromising position with Mrs. Poole. ## THE ELECTION CALLED.

MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

President Fitzgerald Reviews the Situation in His Address—The Work for Home Rule Done by Irishmen in America—Letter to Dr. Thomas O'Reilly of This City.

The National Executive Committee of the National League will meet in this city April 16 for the transaction of important business. The assembling of the National convention, as is generally known, has been postponed at the present time.

vement, now nearing its hour of final triumph or sore defeat, the Irish exiles and their children in America have been the chief support and main stay of the national struggle. The continuous financial assistance derived from the United States and Canada by the people and leaders of Ireland has been the result of organization. The munificence regate created by the many contributory names of Irish-American generosity could have been attained had the movement ended upon the uncertainty of sporadic local action. Our enemies have recognized the tremendous force of organization as a most potent aid to the Irish cause, and they are now exercising all their ingenuity to destroy it.

and utilizing their immense resources to destroy and nullify its influence by trying to create disorganization and distrust among the people of Ireland. Secret service money is being expended and subsidized agents are employed to scatter innuendoes, to make false allegations, and by every artifice to disseminate slanders in order to disrupt Irish national organization in America.

the impelling motive what it may, a honest press is being utilized in this country to complement the unscrupulous but defeated efforts of the London Times to discredit not only the national officers of the American Legion, but the trusted and able leaders of the movement in Ireland, whom till now you have so loyally obeyed and so generously

CONTRIBUTIONS IN IRELAND.
The time has come to appeal to our better nature and to have trust and confidence in ourselves. The Irish people in Ireland are giving us a grand example. They are controlling themselves with a zeal, a dignity and a discipline unprecedented in the annals of human race. Generous as your contributions have been, noble as have been your sacrifices and magnificent your efforts, they are far from equaling, under like circumstances, the manifestation of these qualities by people in Ireland. For instance, we reckon to the avaricity with which they contributed in an inconceivably short space of ry of Ireland have within the last two nths raised $150,000 more for the same se which is now being in turn contested on the Irish hillsides.

Look to you confidently to move to the support of your kith and kindred in their gallant struggle against the famine-breeding system of Irish landlordism. Looking back upon a noble past, what, think you, would not Irish people do for us were our situations reversed? Remember with what promptness the starving Ireland contributed from her erty to the relief of the stricken multitude of the Johnstown flood, as to the Irish disposition and indwelling in the Irish heart. "The mite that you contribute will be your bread cast upon the waters, of which you will securely anticipate a return. Therefore I exhort you, in your in-

It is impossible to answer, but have no less carefully credited. Of this our sitting Committee are unimpeachable witnesses.
